

TAMMY C. WHITLOCK

University of Kentucky
Department of History
Lexington, KY 40506
(W) 859/257-1357

3360 Hunter Rd
Lexington, KY 40502
(H) 859/494-0781
hrhwhitlock@hotmail.com

EDUCATION

1998	History, Rice University, Houston, TX	Degree: Ph.D.
1993	History, University of Alabama in Huntsville	Degree: Master of Arts
1990	Murray State University, Murray, KY	Degree: Bachelor of Science

BOOKS

Crime, Gender, and Consumer Culture in Nineteenth Century England.
The History of Retailing and Consumption Series. Ashgate, Spring 2005.

Book Manuscript: The 'Failures' of Feminism (work in progress).

MOST RECENT ARTICLES

"Femininity, Masculinity and the History of Violence: Spouse Murder in Nineteenth Century England" (under review), 2008

SELECTED RECENT CONFERENCES AND INVITED TALKS

"Gender and the Politics of Spouse Killing in Victorian England," April 4, 2008, Nineteenth Century Studies Association, Florida International University, Miami

"The Fraudulent Consumer: False Banknotes and Female Insanity in Victorian England," Sept. 17, 2006, North American Victorian Studies Association, Purdue University

"Mrs. MacGregor's Sealskin Jacket: Committing Retail Fraud in Victorian England," Nov. 5, 2004, Southern Conference on British Studies, Memphis, Tennessee

"Stealing Status: Shoplifting and the Boundaries of Gender and Class in Nineteenth-Century England," June 4-6, 1999, Berkshire Conference on the History of Women, University of Rochester, New York

SELECTED TEACHING EXPERIENCE:

1999-09 Lecturer, Department of History, University of Kentucky
Hist.595 Gender and Empire (Spring 09)
Hist. 595 (and 350) Victorian Popular Culture In England and North America
Hist.595 Nationalism, Politics and Literature in History
Hist.554 British History, 1780-1914
Hist.555 British History Since 1901
Hist. 499 Senior Research Seminar: Great Crimes in History
Hist. 301 History Workshop: Famous Trials

DEPARTMENTAL SERVICE:

Jason Carr—Oral Examination Committee, Patterson School of Diplomacy, Fall 2007
Area of examination: Irish Nationalism in the 19th Century

TAMMY C. WHITLOCK

2001-2007 Served as a methodology specialist in research and writing courses required of all of our majors, especially History Workshop 301.

--Trained faculty members in teaching process-oriented methodology course including a workshop in Fall 2007.

Guest Speaker—"Queen Victoria of Great Britain," History 595-401, Women and Power in History: Gender, Power, and Politics, Prof. F.R. Chassen-López, September 26, 2006

Helped inaugurate new methodology course, History Workshop (HIS 301) University of Kentucky 2001

-- Discussed pedagogy with Profs. Petrone and Kern and planned requirements for new research and methodology course in the History Dept, Spring 2001.

--Presented findings and outlined new course objectives in faculty meeting, Spring 2001