Please read this entire syllabus closely; it contains important course policy information & coursework overviews. Remaining enrolled in this class means that you have read & understood all of the content in this syllabus & that you agree to abide by the guidelines & policies outlined herein, just as you can expect me to uphold these policies & teach according to these guidelines.

WRD 111-000
Composition & Communication II
Summer 2013, Online

Instructor: Ms. Allison Palumbo, ABD
Office Hours: available in Skype by appointment
Email: allison.palumbo@uky.edu (spell my first name with two ‘l’s in my email address)
Classroom: Blackboard at http://elearning.uky.edu; login with your LinkBlue username and password.
Class Time: This course & all deadlines are based on the Eastern Time Zone.

PREPARING FOR WRD 111

Required Texts
- Everything’s an Argument. Lunsford & Ruszkiewicz. 5th ed. 2010

Required Materials
- Active library account & UK email address
- Reliable computer & internet access
- Flash drive or cloud access to back up work
- 3x5 in. index cards
- Digital video camera
- Voice recording device

Minimum Technology Requirements for Blackboard (Bb)
You will not be able to access course material or complete assignments if you do not have the software listed.

- Firefox internet browser
- Java
- Flash
- Adobe Acrobat Reader
- Adobe Connect
- QuickTime movie player
- Windows Media Player
- At least Microsoft Word & PowerPoint

To find out if your computer meets the hardware and software requirements for Bb, click on the link, then click BbGo! http://wiki.uky.edu/blackboard/Wiki%20Pages/Browser%20Check.aspx You can also access links to access free downloads of Firefox, Adobe Reader, Flash, & QuickTime.

Download Java at http://java.com. Click the Free Java Download button; run the installer to get the latest version.

Download Windows Media Player at http://www.microsoft.com/windows/windowsmedia/player/10/default.aspx

Download Microsoft Office Suite (including Word and PowerPoint) from this site: https://download.uky.edu/. You will need to login with your UK LinkBlue username and password first.
Taking WRD 111 Online
An online class has unique requirements and circumstances. There is a “Help” button on the main menu in your WRD111 course that will take you to useful wikis and Bb FAQ areas. Here is some additional information.

Technical Issues: Having trouble submitting a file, downloading a PDF, accessing a link, etc.? The UK helpdesk is available for technical support 24 hours a day 7 days a week. When you experience technical difficulties, contact the Customer Service Center before contacting your instructor. Call 859-218-HELP (4357) or email (slower response) helpdesk@uky.edu. After you contact the helpdesk, then inform your instructor (be sure to include the helpdesk ticket number in your email for verification).

Bb 101 for First-Time Online Students: This is a brief introduction for students who are new to Bb.
- Go to http://elearning.uky.edu and log in with your Link Blue ID.
- Click on the Courses link near the top left of the page (to the right of My Bb and under Library tab).
- In the Course Search line, type Bb9-101 (exactly as you see it there, including the hyphen).
- Find Course ID (first column) Bb9-101-OnLine-Stu; click the down arrow next to the Course ID.
- Click Enroll then Submit.

Contact Distance Learning Library Services
- Main website: http://www.uky.edu/Libraries/DLLS
- Carla Cantagallo, DL Librarian, Email: dlservice@email.uky.edu
- Local phone number: 859. 257.0500, ext. 2171;
- Long-distance phone number: (800) 828-0439 (option #6)

Group Work & Technology: To foster collaboration skills, you will be assigned groups. Within the group function in Bb, you can exchange Word, audio, and video files that you have created. At times, you will be asked to view/read and respond to a classmate’s work that has been posted to Bb. Know that using video and audio technologies well will be absolutely vital to this course, as this course focuses on written, verbal, and visual composition and communication skills (see the course description and student learning outcomes). You may also be using Adobe Connect Pro or Skype or Google Circles for synchronous peer feedback and presentations. Directions for these assignments and technologies will be posted on Bb.

Instructor Contact
While we won’t meet face-to-face, my purpose as your instructor is to offer assistance whenever you have questions or concerns, so please let me know whenever you are unsure, are struggling, or would like feedback. I can help with anything from testing topic ideas to answering requests for assignment clarifications. I can also explain anything that is unclear or confusing in your syllabus or assignment instructions; however, emailing me should not replace your careful reading of the instructions. If something doesn’t make sense or you have questions, please let me know specifically what confuses you. For example, saying that the assignment is unclear doesn’t help me help you. Give me an example of what specifically you need help with, so I can respond with more helpful guidance (you can even quote the part of the instructions that seem perplexing). When you email me for assistance, please keep these points in mind.

- Use proper correspondence etiquette when you email me or any other professional. This includes using a descriptive subject heading, a greeting, using capitals and punctuation, and a signature from you at the end.

- Contact me far enough in advance that I can respond and you can make adjustments or corrections. While I may respond the same afternoon for emails I receive in the morning, I may not respond until the next weekday (excluding holidays). Contacting me an hour or two before a deadline will be a waste of time for both of us. Get assignments done as far in advance as possible to avoid problems or to give you time to contact me with questions that might arise. You never know when you might need clarification before an assignment is due. This is also a good way to avoid any issues with technology that can and will happen.
Course Goals
Composition and Communication II is the second of two general education courses focused on integrated oral, written, and visual communication skill development emphasizing critical inquiry and research. In this course, students will explore issues of public concern using rhetorical analysis, engage in deliberation over those issues, and ultimately propose solutions based on well-developed arguments. Students will sharpen their ability to conduct research; compose and communicate in written, oral, and visual modalities; and work effectively in groups (dyads and small groups).

To learn to analyze a public issue using rhetorical analysis, the entire class will explore together one contemporary social issue and related texts about it. Students will then be grouped in teams, each of which will explore a different public controversy with a local face (e.g., the use of renewable energy vs. fossil fuels--local angle: coal mining practices in Eastern Kentucky). Students will decide on their team focus and conduct significant primary and secondary research on the issue, culminating in a series of composition assignments.

A significant component of the class will consist of learning to use visual and digital resources, first to enhance written and oral presentations and later to communicate mass mediated messages to various public audiences. Over the course of the semester, class members can expect to work independently, with a partner, and in a small group (team) to investigate, share findings, and compose and deliver presentations, as well as to practice and evaluate interpersonal and team dynamics in action.

Student Learning Outcomes
By the end of the semester, students will be able to:

- Compose in writing and deliver orally with visuals (in a face-to-face or digital environment) at least one major project grounded in scholarly research in a manner that is appropriate and effective for the audience, purpose, and occasion. (The development of one or more major research projects is the course’s primary educational focus.)

- Conduct significant research on a subject, using the resources of the UK Libraries

- Employ advanced strategies for developing ideas and analyzing arguments, with greater emphasis on addressing and mediating issues of public interest, and with evidence of critical thinking in both the conception and the development of the thesis.

- Refine their speaking, writing, and visual communication skills, focusing on matters of construction, design, and delivery style.

- Critique the work of peers and professionals.

- Revise their written and oral presentations, in collaboration with peers, instructor, librarians, and pertinent members of the public.
COURSE POLICIES

Attendance
Online classes require excellent time management and self-motivation. Attendance means participating in assigned activities, submitting work according to course schedule deadlines, and checking Blackboard daily for messages or assignment information. My expectation is that you will treat this course as you do a face-to-face class and that you reserve time for it in your schedule; this will prevent procrastination and unforeseen delays. Failure to submit assignments on time or missing feedback or formal speech sessions will affect your grade because it will affect your performance. For further information on UK policies regarding attendance, see (Part II, section V, Academic Standards, parts 5.2.4.1, and 5.2.4.2) http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html#

Excused Absences: Even though I will not take attendance, there may be times during the semester when you are unable to meet an assignment or feedback deadline due to circumstances beyond your control. Excused absences will be given at my discretion only with proof as defined by the UK Student Code of Conduct 5.2.4.2. Students missing work due to an excused absence must inform me about their excused absence within one week following the period of the excused absence (except where prior notification is required), so we can determine a new deadline. Students will not be penalized for excused absences, and only for excused absences will students be given an opportunity to turn in work after the deadline.

Late Assignments: To maintain academic integrity and keep the class on track, I assign deadlines and expect students meet those deadlines, so I do not accept late work except for excused absences with documentation. Late means any time after the time listed in the course schedule. This policy allows me to keep equitable expectations for all students, and it prevents delays that keep me from grading and responding to student work in a timely manner. As I mentioned earlier, get assignments done as far advance of deadlines as possible to avoid any problems or to give you time to contact me with questions that might arise.

Excuses: Personal obligations, including work and travel, and mechanical failures are not acceptable excuses for late work, though I will accept work submitted early. Additionally, emailing me at the last minute with a problem that you could have addressed earlier is also unacceptable. Organize your time, back up ALL work, and schedule around your other responsibilities. Due to problems with virus transmission, I do not accept email attachments of essays or homework—all work must be submitted through Blackboard.

Feedback Sessions: This semester, you get to participate in peer feedback sessions for your project work. Peer feedback groups include three to four students and may require synchronous meeting through Adobe Connect. Specific requirements for each session will be provided in advance on Bb. Students who do not submit a draft and provide peer comments on a feedback session for an essay or speech project receive a full letter grade deduction from the final grade for that project.

Backing up Assignment Work
In addition to all the flashdrive and cloud technology of late, Bb has a handy feature under the eContent Collection to store all of your work on the network server; thus, there is no reason not to back up your work. Backing up work includes not only essay and speech drafts but also your discussion board and blog posts, which you should compose on Word documents that you can save as you go, rather than composing directly in the message box. Then, when the assignment is complete, copy and paste the content into the discussion board or blog message box. This way, if you encounter any technical problems while submitting, you have a backup saved.

Please Note: Microsoft Office Suite, which includes Word, is one of the free downloads you receive as a UK student. Review links above under the “Minimum Technology Requirements” for more information.
Assignment Requirements
The Writing Division sets assignment length requirements, so students must meet minimum word counts and minimum speech lengths for project work to be eligible for a passing grade. You are expected to produce a minimum amount of formal composition in this course as an indicator of your facility with the skills you learn. Assignments that don’t meet minimum length requirements earn a failing grade, in accordance with WRD policies. This policy allows instructors to be fair to students who follow directions and make sincere efforts in their work.

Student Conduct
Education requires a safe, positive environment, and we are all responsible for protecting our class community. As a member of this community, you deserve respect and courtesy, and I expect you will return that respect to others. Our community provides a forum for creating and exploring ideas. I encourage intellectual freedom and welcome open expression, so you can benefit from new ideas and even controversial points of view during debates and discussions. Students have a right to share their own opinions in an appropriate manner, but I will not allow anyone in class to subject you to aggressive language founded in ignorance or hate. Thus, I protect our community by not tolerating negative student conduct that might infringe on your learning experience. Although there is some face-to-face communication in this class, we will get to know each other primarily through writing, so think carefully about your tone when posting to Blackboard, emailing me or your classmates, etc. Students who violate conduct policies or contribute to a hostile or negative environment will receive a warning, possible assignment deductions, and, if necessary, be referred to the Writing Division for further action.

UK Guidelines for Appropriate Online Behavior
Students are expected to maintain decorum that includes respect for other students and the instructor, to regularly log in to the course, and to display an attitude that seeks to take full advantage of the educational opportunity. All students are expected to be prepared to work and actively participate in class activities. Consult Part I of the UK Student Code of Conduct regarding the steps for more information on student conduct and addressing unresolved academic issues: http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part1.html#

- Normal rules of social interaction apply to virtual communication and discussion “in cyberspace.” Communicating online is no excuse to behave in an anti-social manner and post unacceptable messages.
- Unacceptable messages include those that harass, intimidate, threaten, belittle, ridicule, expressed hatred for, or aggression toward others. Let us be mindful to avoid words that imply that some groups of people are less worthy than others (e.g., avoid racist, sexist, anti-Semitic, age-ist, and homophobic language).
- Discussion board and other electronic communication for this course should relate only to the course subject matter, generally respond to the instructor threads, and always seek to further the aims of that particular discussion forum or chat session (e.g., stay on topic).
- Contributions to discussion boards and synchronous chat are the intellectual property of the authors. Students who quote another person in class projects, publications or even in remarks made on the discussion board should always acknowledge the source of that quote (e.g., do not plagiarize your classmates).
- Personal comments about other users or their views should be shared only in your private communications.
- Do not copy private messages to another person without the author's explicit permission.

Plagiarism
Part II of the UK Student Code of Conduct states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. See section VI, 6.3.1 online at http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html#

In cases where students feel unsure about a question of plagiarism involving their work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission. When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording or anything else from another source without appropriate acknowledgment of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism.
Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else's work, whether it be published article, chapter of a book, a paper from a friend or some file, or another source, including the Internet. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be. Plagiarism also includes using someone else’s work during an oral presentation without properly citing that work in the form of an oral footnote.

Whenever you use outside sources or information, you must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how you have employed them. If the words of someone else are used, you must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Plagiarism also includes making simple changes while leaving the organization, content and phrasing intact. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain.

You may discuss assignments among yourselves or with me or a tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by you, and you alone unless the assignment has been designed to be conducted with a partner or small group of classmates. All work submitted must be new, original work; you may not submit work you have produced for another purpose or class, including a previous CIS or WRD 110 course.

Students who cheat disrespect themselves and our writing community. To protect our community and the standards of UK’s education, I teach prevention strategies and immediately address any academic integrity violations. Should plagiarism or cheating occur, I will directly refer the violating student to the Writing Division’s office to begin official plagiarism proceedings. As plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses with equally serious consequences, the minimum penalty for either offense is a zero on the assignment.

MLA Documentation

To reduce instances of plagiarism, pay attention to discussions and readings about MLA documentation and keep track of your sources as you draft. Any time you use and refer to sources in your assignment work, you must use MLA in-text documentation and include a properly formatted Works Cited page to avoid plagiarism or misrepresentation. For all typed major and minor assignment work in this class, students should follow the MLA formatting guidelines in your handbooks.

Students with Special Needs

If you are registered with the Disability Resource Center (DRC) and require special accommodations to complete the work for this course, you must produce a letter from the DRC that details what you need before I can grant you these accommodations. Special accommodations cannot be granted retroactively. This is a non-negotiable class policy. Please contact the DRC at 257-2754 if you have questions about your eligibility for special accommodations.

Writing Center/Multimodal Communications Lab

The Writing Center is located in W. T. Young Library, Thomas D. Clark Study, 5th Floor, West Wing. You can walk in or make an appointment by phone (859-257-1368) or online (http://web.as.uky.edu/oxford/). The staff can help you identify and correct problems with all aspects of your writing as well as work with you on visual design. If you have additional problems with speaking, you may go to the Multimodal Communication Lab in 106 Grehan (859-257-8370). Consider going to either location if you feel stuck at any stage of the communication process. Take advantage of tutoring assistance early, so you have time to get feedback and make changes.

Please Note: these labs do not offer editing/proofreading services; rather, they offer helpful feedback to guide you as you revise your own compositions.
General Coursework Information

- Project work and major assignments that include written text count as formal writing for this course. Formal writing means that you are expected to revise the work through a series of drafts and submit a final version that is edited, properly formatted, and indicates careful attention to proofreading.
- Instructions for all projects, major assignments, & homework are listed by due date on Bb. Click on the week button corresponding to the course schedule below (on the left-side Bb menu), then click on the folder with the relevant due date to access instructions.
- Coursework that does not follow instructions or meet project and assignment requirements (beyond minimum length requirements) will receive grade deductions that could lead to a failing grade on the work.

Verifying Assignment Submissions
Since the only way I can verify that you have completed an assignment on time is to note the time stamp when you submit the work online, it’s important that you verify submissions you make to Bb when you post document files. To check document uploads: After you submit an assignment, click the “My Grades” button. If you see an exclamation point (!) next to that assignment, it worked. If you don’t see it, resubmit the file and re-verify. To verify discussion board and other posts, simply click on the link to your thread and review the submission.

Checking Grades
All assignment grades will be posted regularly under the “My Grades” button on the main menu. This allows you to track your progress throughout the class. I grade assignments within two weeks of the due date, so please do not contact me before the end of these two weeks to ask about your grades.

My assessments for project work and major assignments usually include both general and specific comments and a grading rubric gauging your skill levels. When you receive these with my feedback, please read them carefully. My critiques are meant to help you improve on future assignments. If you need clarification on my comments, please email me once you have read all of my feedback.

A Note on Readings
Readings cover the skills and content lessons that allow you to become a more effective communicator. Some readings have PPT or video supplements—use them in conjunction with the reading, not in place of it because the readings are more detailed. While there may not be an activity or assignment directly following each reading, you are responsible for all assigned content—for understanding and applying it to your project compositions.
General Coursework Guidelines

Follow the instructions to prepare and submit different types of coursework for this class. Content instructions for homework and major assignments are either on Bb under the menu buttons according to due date or at the end of PPT viewings. The abbreviations in parentheses below identify the type of assignment in the course schedule.

For Project Work (PW), Major Assignments (MA), and Peer Reviews (PR):
Specific instructions for the project work, including submission requirements, is listed under the “Projects” menu button on Bb. Save Word and PPT files for different component work as you compose, and title the work: Your Last Name-Component (example: Palumbo-Rhetorical Analysis).

Note: All proposals (which are MA) should be written in essay format, meaning full sentences and paragraph form, without bullet points or numbering. They also need to include the specific points noted in the instructions. You will turn these in on Bb.

For Responses & Writing Activities (R):
Assignment title and word limit will be noted in the detailed instructions. Compose your responses and writing activities on a Word document. Save the document and title it: Your Last Name-Assignment Title (example: Palumbo-Intro Video). Upload the file into the appropriate assignment under the appropriate week.

For Worksheets/Templates (W):
Download the worksheet or template from Bb to complete with the proper information. Save the file and title it: Your Last Name-Worksheet Title. Upload the completed worksheet into the appropriate assignment under the appropriate week.

For Discussion Board Posts (Db):
Assignment title and word limit will be noted in the detailed instructions. Compose the Db post content on a Word document to save for your files. Post activity to the Db thread with the same title as the assignment, beginning your post title with your last name (you can write whatever you want for the rest of the title). Don’t upload the file; just copy and paste the content into the Db message box.

For Discussion Board Comments (C):
Unless otherwise instructed, consider your peer’s ideas or examples and respond to them as you would in a conversation about issue. There is generally no word limit, but your comment needs to show thoughtful consideration and an attempt to engage your peer’s post (evaluation, as in “great post” does not count).

For Emails (E):
Use proper email etiquette (informative subject heading, proper greeting, a professional body using punctuation and standard grammar, and a signature) and include the content directed by the instructions. Emails that do not exhibit proper etiquette will not receive points.

TENTATIVE COURSEWORK SCHEDULE
(Subject to Change with Notice)

Reading This Schedule
- All coursework submission deadlines are noon, ET on the due dates below. I choose noon rather than midnight to be able to address any problems that might come up in the morning with submissions.
- Our schedule runs Monday through Sunday, though due dates are generally Tuesday and Friday
- Videos, weblinks, PowerPoints, & PDF attachments are on Bb under folder links according to due date.
- Abbreviations used in the schedule are as follows:
  - Bb: Blackboard
  - Db: Discussion board
  - Group Db: Group discussion board, under assigned group links
  - HB: Handbook
  - EAA: Everything’s an Argument
  - PDF: Supplementary handout (posted on Bb)
  - PPT: PowerPoint viewing (posted on Bb)
Please Note: The compressed nature of summer courses means that what you would normally do over two weeks, you will now do over one week. This means that every due date covers one week of material. Thus, the reading and composing work will seem heavier than normal, even though you will cover the same amount as you would in a traditional WRD 111 class. If you manage your time well, you will be more likely to succeed.

LESSONS

TUESDAY 6/12

- Read instructor announcement/email on possible topics (to be posted by midnight Sunday, 6/10)
- Read PDF:
  - "Critical Reading"
  - "Writing Summaries"
  - "Summary of Reeves" or an example summary of Occupy situation
- Read HB:
  - Ch. 28, Managing info; avoiding plagiarism
  - Ch. 30, Avoiding Plagiarism
  - Ch. 31, Integrating nonfiction sources
- Review OWL weblink sections:
  - Source Use
  - Quoting, Paraphrasing, and Summarizing
  - Paraphrasing: Sample Essay
  - http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/563/1/

HOMEWORK DUE

Instructions on Bb

- R: Critical Reading Response
  - Write a 300-word minimum response to the following prompt: 1. You have been reading for many years—why teach you about reading now? What is different? 2. What are key points you learned about critical reading? 3. Evaluate your usual note taking process. In what ways are they effective or ineffective? How could they be more effective? 4. What have you learned about writing summaries? Compare and contrast it with paraphrasing.

- E: Email your instructor
  - First, read the announcement/email you received with the list of possible topic choices from the instructor. Then, click on the above link to send your instructor an email with your top 4 topic choices, which will help determine your group assignment.

- Db: Education Video
  - Locate one Youtube video about any aspect of college education that you find particularly effective and interesting.
  - Summarize the video in around 150-300 words. Refer to specific evidence from the video, and provide a link to it.

- C: 2 Education Video peer comments
  - Comment on two different peers' posts with a minimum 100-word response per post. Address their summary tactics—did they use the proper structure? Follow the guidelines from the “Writing Summaries” PDF? What was effective? What was ineffective?

LESSONS

FRIDAY 6/15

- Read instructor announcement/email on team assignment/topic based on preferences (to be posted by midnight Tuesday, 6/12)
- Read PDF:
  - "Group Presentations" pp. 347-353
  - "Group Problem-Solving"
  - Atkins “Collaborating Online”

HOMEWORK DUE

Instructions on Bb

- Db: Working with a Team
  - Write a 300-word minimum response to the following prompt: 1. What are the key points to making group communication work? 2. Explain the key points to problem-solving in groups. 3. What are some potential problems you foresee with working in a group or what concerns do you have? 4. How can you use what you have learned to prevent or resolve these problems?

- C: 1 Working with a Team peer comment
  - Comment on one peer’s post with a minimum 100-word response, engaging with their concerns and ideas about group work.

- Group Db: Individual Freewrite
  - This is a group Db activity. To complete this assignment, click on the “GROUPS” button, click on the link for your group’s Db, then find the forum with the same assignment title. Click “Create Thread.” Then, start your subject title with your last name followed by whatever title you care to create. Copy and paste your post from the Word document you saved into your message box. Finally, click “Submit.”

  - Complete this prompt. As individuals (not with your group), do basic Google research on the topic assigned to your team, and freewrite for 20-30 undisturbed minutes on what you learn and what your interest in this topic is. You can include arguments for or against, describe experiences with the issue, etc. Just make sure you write without stopping as much as possible. Your freewrite should be fairly long if done right (more than...

HOMEWORK DUE

- Instructions on Bb
  - R: Response to Pathos
    - Write a 300-word minimum response to the following prompt: 1. Summarize the main argument this video makes. 2. Identify places in the video that make an appeal to pathos. To what values or emotions do these examples appeal? How do they make this appeal? Why appeal those specific values or emotions (meaning how does this kind of appeal help the argument?)?
  - Db: Pathos Practice
    - Write a 150-word minimum Db post to the following prompt. Pick one of these situations: convincing a supervisor to give you a raise, a professor to allow you into a full class, or someone to go on a date with you. Then, create a proposal thesis statement (one-two sentences that encapsulate the main action you want from the person). Then, develop a reason that uses an appeal to pathos to have been assigned and that discusses the national and local dimensions within it. Only one proposal is due per group, and all student names should be on it. Designate one group member to submit this assignment by the deadline. This proposal is worth 50 points and will consist of part of your overall major assignments grade, which is worth 15% of your final course grade. All team members will receive the same grade for the activity.

PR: Working Bibliography
As a team, develop a working bibliography (working meaning it might change as you go) of at least 10 diverse sources that you might be able to use in your project (diverse means print and web, scholarly and popular, primary and secondary). Bibliography should be properly formatted using MLA. Consult your writing handbook and OWL Purdue for MLA documentation conventions. Only one bibliography is due per group, and all student names should be on it. Designate one group member to submit this assignment by the deadline.

Instructions on Bb

1. PR: Podcast Peer Feedback
   - First, make at least three marginal comments (using the "review" and comment function in Word) on each of your peers' drafts from your assigned group. These comments should give feedback on effective or ineffective elements in the draft, places the authors can look to strengthen their writing. Save the draft file with the title: Your Last Name_Comments on Peer's Last Name (for example, Palumbo_Comments on Smith)
   - Your marginal comments should use full sentences (not just cryptic fragments) and should be constructive (use examples, give details, etc.).

   Effective comment example: I'm not sure what you mean when you say the space is bright. Can you give more specific detail?

   Ineffective comment example: This is confusing.

   Then, post the saved file as an attachment on the Group Db forum for this assignment. The message box of your post should include a minimum 200-word general reflection of your thoughts on the draft and should also answer the two concerns your peer should have included in the Db post they made with their draft.

   These feedback files are also worth 50 points (total) and will consist of part of your overall major assignments grade, which is worth 15% of your final course grade.

R: Response to Ethos
Write a 300-word minimum response to the following prompt: 1. Summarize the main argument in this video. 2. What audience is this video trying to reach and why? How do you know? 3. Identify places in the video that make an appeal to ethos. How do they fulfill this appeal? 4. Considering the audience, why do you think the authors chose these types of ethos appeals?

Db: Ethos Practice
Write a 150-word minimum Db post to the following prompt. Using the same situation and proposal statement you chose for the pathos and ethos practice, develop a reason that uses an appeal to ethos to persuade the person to take your proposed action.

C: 1 Ethos Practice peer comment
Comment on one peer’s post with a minimum 100-word response. Explain whether or not their example was effective and why. In what way did your peer appeal to ethos? What emotion or values did he or she invoke?

to the following prompt: 1. Summarize the argument thesis you interpret from this video. 2. Identify places in the video that make an appeal to logos supporting the thesis. 3. Consider purpose and audience: Why do you think the authors chose these lines of reasoning and support instead of other possible forms of support? 4. What other types of support do you think they could have used (more in terms of generic logos appeals rather than specific reasons and evidence)?

Db: Logos Practice
Write a 150-word minimum Db post to the following prompt. Using the same situation and proposal statement you chose for the pathos and ethos practice, develop a reason that uses an appeal to logos to persuade the person to take your proposed action.

C: 1 Logos Practice peer comment

Db: Argument Response
Do some basic internet research on this speech and author. Write a 150-word minimum Db post to the following prompt: 1. Describe the historical context or situation behind this piece (as in why it was written or what historical issue or controversy it addressed). 2. What issues were at stake? 3. What was the purpose of the argument? 4. What makes it memorable? 5. How does this argument relate to contemporary arguments about higher education?
C: 1 Argument Response peer comment
Comment on one peer’s post with a minimum 100-word response. Engage with your peer’s ideas, either critiquing, responding, etc.

Write a 150-word minimum Db post to the following prompt. First, complete the Doodle survey to choose one of the fallacies listed (there are 15, which coordinate with the EAA reading). Then, using the same situation and proposal statement you chose for the pathos, ethos, and logos practice, develop an example of the fallacy you chose in a reason to persuade the person to take your proposed action. Try to have fun with this. Then, at the end of your reason, start a new paragraph, explain the fallacy and how your example fits it.

C: 1 Fallacies Practice peer comment
Comment on one peer’s post with a minimum 100-word response. Explain whether or not their example of their chosen fallacy effective and why.

Db: Fallacy Example
Researching on the internet, find an example of any fallacy listed in EAA Ch. 17 (it can be in a video, website, document, etc.). First, give the text’s argument (summarize the thesis/main point of persuasion). Then, describe (for visuals) or quote (for writing) the fallacious text. Then, explain what the fallacy is, why the example is a fallacy. Finally, provide a brief alternative reason that might have been more effective for the argument being made.

C: 1 Fallacy Example peer comment
Comment on one peer’s post with a minimum 100-word response. Did your peer identify the proper fallacy? Reflect on your peer’s alternative reason.

HOMEWORK DUE

Instructions on Bb

- PR: Team Speech Video Rehearsal
  - Make a video recording of yourself practicing.
  - Taking the opportunity to record yourself doing your speech can be invaluable practice to help you get through it with less mistakes and problems. To encourage you to take advantage of practice time, I have assigned a rehearsal recording.

  You can read from your speech transcript, but try to look up at the camera for “eye contact” regularly (meaning you should have read it through all the way to yourself once or twice BEFORE you try this rehearsal recording).

  Do not worry if you mess up as you do this recording. You don’t have to stop the recording and try again to get it right. If you mess up, stop, take a breath, and keep going. This is good practice.

  PLEASE NOTE: This is a rehearsal recording, so I do not expect a great performance. I will not assess delivery or the timing--you can take 10 minutes to get through it if you need to. All I look for is a completed recording that includes a full speech and makes a sincere attempt.
